Honourary Membership received on April 22, 2017

Ethel Warbinek's contributions to the development of history-of-nursing-related archival documents online is only one of several major accomplishments and this alone warrants the honour of a life membership in the BC History of Nursing Society. Most recently, in collaboration with our archivist, the more than 200 recordings have been summarized and catalogued, making the list available for our website. It will soon be accessible for researchers, historians, and families. Her current project is to review the cassette tapes and assess their suitability to be transferred onto MP3 files (the latest technology) so they will be more easily used. This process has been a daunting, labour-intensive, time-consuming task that she carries out almost unnoticed.

As Ethel Warbinek wrote, we recognize Lenore for the years she has diligently worked on the development and maintenance of multiple versions of the website. From its humble beginnings, it has evolved into an incredible site - viewed by many worldwide. The constant updates require hours of diligent work from adding blog posts and meeting updates, to adding new pages of History, Bio files and more. Lenore has spent hundreds of hours not only assisting our webmaster in developing new versions of the site, but also making sure it is up to date for our members and for the public. In addition to the website, Lenore has been active in other activities. For years, she has managed Programs and distribution of the newsletter. Lenore has been a member from our early beginnings and a loyal advocate for the preservation of our history.
